CHAMBER OF MANUFACTURES.

TURES.
THE NEW TARIFF.

As a consequence of representations from many of the chamber and others as to the present and likely effects of recent and contemplated tariff changes, the Council of the Chamber of Manufacturers of the United States, on the 10th inst., elected C. H. Hopkins, president of the chamber, to the chair.

Mr. Hopkins pointed out that the meeting was called at the request of a number of manufacturers, most of whom were members of the chamber, and that it was the duty of the chamber as a body to take steps to protect the industries which, as the requisitioners averred, were being injured by the present tariff. He then explained the operation of the new tariff act, and it seemed to many people, as it certainly does to me, to be a very wise and judicious one. It is a portion of a tariff which has been in operation six weeks, and the full effects of it are not yet known. It is, however, a tariff which will come. Nevertheless, as some of the chamber were not present and had represented that they had been prejudiced by the present tariff, it was the duty of the chamber to take steps to protect itself and to advise the public to receive and voice their complaints. It was the duty of the chamber to make a public statement of the facts, and to press the case, and the Parliament competition neither employers nor employees could compute. Indeed they, following the example of their firm in England, were seriously concerned with the possibility of removing their business from the Australian market and establishing it in the United Kingdom. Another member pointed out that his firm had, in view of the modernization of its plant, been compelled to consider the alternative of refusing wages 25 per cent above the award. The Government had, in the circumstances, decided to take the matter to the Arbitration Commission, and it was further stated that another firm in the same trade was contemplating similar action. The subject was discussed, and concluded with the suggestion that the Secretary of the Commission should obtain from all representative firms in both town and country, in the form of a questionnaire a series of tabulated questions to be answered by the firms, and that the Commission should have the effect of the new tariff on their respective output, particularly as to whether it had increased or decreased production, increased or decreased sales, and so forth.

CHURCH NEWS.

PAB-BYTERY OF SYDNEY.

The meeting of the Presbytery of Sydney was held at Stephen's Church, last evening, the Moderator being J. Milne, M.A., presiding. The Rev. J. The Rev. J. Walker conducted a Moravian mapoon, Batsavia River, North Queensland. Rev. E. Brown was welcomed by the Moderator.

The financial relations existing between the Presbytery and the Church and its pastor, the Rev. J. Milne, came before Presbytery. The Rev. J. Milne complained that the church had violated him of his statutory rights to

He had been promised $250 in addition to $310 arrearages for statutory rights from the rents of property owned by the State of Ohio. The committee on the finances of the Pittsburgh Presbytery recommended that the Presbytery should pay him the last $250 and that the minister in the future and the rents of such properties.

Any questions bearing upon the matter were referred to the members of the Presbytery who were present. They decided that the statutory rights which he claimed, and ultimately the further consideration of the matter, was adjourned for a week. The Presbytery rose shortly before 11 o'clock.
